Memorandum for: John W. Coffey, DDS

This is the first edition of the newly designed General Survey.

The leading chapter, the Country Profile, is a new departure in NIS production. In brief essay form, it describes the primary characteristics and analyzes the key dynamics of the country.

The following chapters go into detail. They serve both the generalist seeking orientation in depth, and the specialist planner, policy officer, and researcher.

The bound-by-chapter format will facilitate updating and permit new flexibility in production scheduling, dissemination, storage and filing. The production schedule -- 30 General Surveys per year -- will continue.

Your reactions and suggestions are invited.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Central Intelligence

SUBJECT : China Atlas

1. The Agency has been advised that a number of copies of the China Atlas with special leather covers are being prepared by the Government Printing Office for presentation to the President, the Vice President, Dr. Kissinger, Secretary Rogers, Senator Mansfield, Senator Scott and you. The genesis of the action is not completely clear but Mr. John Nidecker, a Deputy Special Assistant to the President, seems to have provided the spark. It apparently is planned to have a formal presentation to the President and subsequently to the other recipients in their respective offices, the latter at least to be handled by the Acting Public Printer, Mr. Harry Humphrey. (Mr. Humphrey was recently here for lunch and a tour of our printing facilities.) It was suggested that you and Mr. John Kerry King, Director, Basic and Geographic Intelligence, might be invited to the ceremony at which a copy will be presented to the President.

2. All of the Agency people concerned including Ed Proctor are a bit puzzled at this timing since as you remember copies of the China Atlas were distributed liberally downtown prior to the President's trip to China.

SUBJECT : Presentation of an Agency Document to the President

1. This memorandum is written in response to a request from the Director of Logistics. It is understood that he has briefed you verbally on the matter. (BLAKE COULDN'T CONNECT WITH YOU)

STAT
→ 2. [] Deputy Chief, Printing Services Division, received a call this morning from John King, Director, Basic and Geographic Intelligence, who said that he had received a telephone call from John Damgard, Special Assistant to the Vice President, to alert him that the President would be presented a specially bound copy of the China Atlas on a date yet to be determined. He said that the special binding was being accomplished by the Government Printing Office and mentioned a Mr. George McFarlane as his contact there. He also asked whether Mr. King would like to attend the presentation. Mr. King had called PSD to ascertain whether we know Mr. McFarlane so that he might obtain more information concerning the matter.

→ 3. After being briefed on the call by [] I called Mr. Darling, Deputy Superintendent of Documents in GPO, and learned that Mr. McFarlane is a member of his staff. In fact, Mr. Darling said that he had planned to call me yesterday on this very matter in order to arrange for the attendance of the appropriate individuals at the presentation. He said that Mr. John Nidecker, Deputy Special Assistant to the President, had been quite impressed by the China Atlas and, in a conversation with Mr. McFarlane several weeks ago, had agreed that presentation copies might be prepared for several top officials who accompanied the President on his trip to China last February. Mr. Harry Humphrey, Acting Public Printer, agreed with the proposal and has prepared seven copies of the atlas for this purpose. Mr. Darling indicated that he felt that this matter should be brought to the attention of the DCI and that, hopefully, the DCI, together with John King could attend the presentation. The Acting Public Printer, Mr. Humphrey, will be present. STAT

4. I subsequently received a call from Mr. McFarlane, who said that the timing of the presentation is in the hands of Mr. Nidecker and that he is trying to get the books ready for the event. I gather that it could be several weeks before it takes place. Mr. McFarlane said that copies of the atlas also are being prepared for the Vice President, Mr. Kissinger, Secretary Rogers, Senator Mansfield and Senator Scott. He said further that a copy is being prepared for Mr. Helms and that the presentation of this copy would be made by Mr. Humphrey - hopefully in the DCI's office. Mr. McFarlane said that he would keep me informed of further developments.
